MRS. ELBA H. BOUSLOG, OUTSTANDING RESIDENT, CALLED AWAY BY DEATH

Mother of Mrs. Donald Marshall, Native of Indiana, Aged 83, Passes Away at Home of Daughter Tuesday Forenoon—Burial at Springfield, Mo.

Mrs. Elba Huffman Bouslog, one of the oldest and most prominent citizens of Bay St. Louis, passed away Tuesday morning at 11:40 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Donald Marshall. Mrs. Bouslog's charming personality, her interest in national affairs, coupled with her recollections of pioneer days made her a most interesting conversationalist and made her a wide circle of devoted friends, who mourn her passing.

She was born in Attica, Ind., Sept. 16th, 1850, daughter of Mary Eliza Dixon and Rev. Walter Light. Huffman of the Methodist Church, one time Circuit rider, with all of Indiana as his circuit. Mrs. Bouslog's earliest recollections were of a trip on a canal boat and of the first lamp in town, which with the oil was brought into Peru, Ind., by her father in his saddle bags. Another time her father on horse back, brought home from Indianapolis some coin silver. He had heard a certain bank in Indianapolis was none too safe and so he made the trip there and removed his deposit. Some of this money was made into the silver he brought his wife.

When she was 14, her father took her to Indianapolis to see the martyred Lincoln laid out on his catafalque in the rotunda of the State Capitol. Before the inauguration of the public schools her father had a private tutor living in their house and after public schools were started her music teacher lived with them. Mrs. Bouslog finished high school at 16 and was made assistant to the principal, teaching for two years until her mother considered her old enough to go East to Vassar College, which had only been founded five years. She was given examinations and was classed as Junior, taking Junior and Senior subjects.

She married John Howell Bouslog in 1874. Six years later her first child, a boy, was born but died at 19 months. Mrs. Bouslog was inconsolable. The following year a daughter was born and after they moved to Springfield, Mo., the home was blessed with two other daughters. It was in Missouri that Mrs. Bouslog did pioneer club work. As president of the oldest Missouri club and as correspondent for leading papers, she wielded much influence. As chairman of the Legislative Committee of the Missouri State Federation, she spoke before the State Legislature and did all the lobbying to get two bills passed—Child Labor and Compulsory Education. Her speech on Child Labor was published in pamphlet form and used for years by Julia

EVENT FOR CAMP BOYS PLANNED

Program and Dance at Forestry Camp, North of Kiln, Friday Evening, Aug. 11.

Captain G. J. Rousseau, U. S. A., stationed at Fort Barancas, Fla., with official designation as district chaplain, including that territory extending between Fort Barancas and Bay St. Louis, inclusive, arrived here Saturday and left Tuesday, after spending three days at the local camp, near Kiln, Hancock county, and arranged for a series of monthly entertainments for the some two hundred young men stationed at the camp.

Accordingly Captain Rousseau, accompanied by Captain H. J. Machette, commanding officer of the refectory camp, met Monday with officials of the Chamber of Commerce and a number of ladies in the interest of establishing the programs he desires for the entertainment of the men in camp.

Mrs. James H. Sylvester was elected general chairlady, to be assisted by a number of other prominent women of this locality and a program of entertainment will be presented on evening of the first affair of the kind to be given at the camp. This will be at 8 o'clock sharp, to be followed by a dance, and, as stated by Captain Rousseau, such character of entertainment, it is planned, to be presented once a month.

"Our men at this particular camp, as well as other camps, are of intellect and character," said Captain Rousseau. "Young men in the majority who have finished high school and quite a number of them have had university training, including one with a past university course. They are young men of fine calibre, from better families and who have a cultural background. Their morale must be looked after as well as their other wants and needs and we do not propose to let their spirit lag. For this reason my mission is to look after these matters and I am indeed greatly appreciative of the splendid co-operation that is already manifested by ladies present at this meeting and others who will also assist."

Two trucks will be sent to Bay St.

TOURNAMENT MATCH AT PINE HILLS EN- GAGED FINE PLAYERS

Eighteen-Hole Course Afforded Interesting Playing and Day of Fine Time.

There was quite an interesting gathering at Pine Hills Sunday on the occasion of a golf tournament in which the participants were well-known players, representing the Great Southern Golf Club at Gulfport on one side and on the other Pine Hills Golf Club, the latter composed largely of Bay St. Louis players.

Players of both sides were well matched and as result the playing of the day was all the more interesting. There were close margins and fine points.

Several ladies accompanied their husbands, particularly the number from Gulfport and basket lunches added to the setting and pleasure as well.

A result of the day's play is interesting. There were two flights. Winners of the first: Bob Parker, first; Clude Lundy, second, Robert L. Genin, third; Bill Alberts, fourth. Second flight: H. Rogers, first; Dr. W. Manning, second; O. J. Deaux, third; Robert Mitchell, fourth. The matches consisted of 18 holes of play. Condition of links were at best, weather ideal and the players were unanimous in the acclaim the day was one of perfect interest. Out-of-town guests left with the hope of an early return.

Personals of sides: Gulfport—Bob Parker, Charles Stewart, J. C. Rich, Bill Alberts, Eustis McManus, B. Osterade, D. Osbourn, J. Albert, Dr. W. Manning, Joe Butler, H. Rogers.

Pine Hills Club—L. H. Barksdale, Clyde Lundy, Dr. Henry Tete, R. L. Genin, C. C. McDonald, O. J. Deaux, Jimmy Brown, A. Brown, L. S. Elliott, Fred Wright, Robt. Mitchell and Bill Wells.

HARRISON COUNTY COURT SETTLES FOR DAMAGES PRIVATELY

Case of Bay St. Louis and Other Litigants Versus Pass Christian Disposed Of.

A jury in the Harrison county court at Gulfport this week on a writ of inquiry assessed the Gulf Motor Express Company with damages in the sum of $12,500 when it failed to make a defense in the $25,000 suit brought against it by Albert Lott, who claimed the loss of an arm when his automobile was said to have been hit by a truck owned by the defendant, a New Orleans firm engaged in freight hauling along the coast.

Damages Suits Versus the Pass.

Four damage suits against the municipality of Pass Christian, two based on automobile accidents said to have resulted from slippery roads and two based upon personal injury claims resulting from falls on the sidewalks, were settled without trial. The two suits growing out of the automobile accidents were brought by Mrs. A. G. Favre of Bay St. Louis and by Udell Favre, minor, by her father, A. G. Favre. Mrs. Favre sought $5000 and the minor $1500. Mrs. Sam Pagano and Mrs. Onelia Carrio sought $5000 each for injuries which they claimed they suffered when they slipped and fell on the sidewalk. The terms of settlement in the four cases were not announced.

Lang and McDermott Satisfied. Two $10,000 damage suits brought against the Corso-Tedesco Company

Louis for the number of young ladies to be invited, all duly chaperoned, and private cars will bring out many more, the captain said. Ladies will be asked by invitation as this will not be a free for all nor a public affair in the general accepted term. Young gentlemen from Bay St. Louis are asked to refrain from participating as the very purpose for which the evening of entertainment and dancing is planned would be defeated. There are some two hundred young gentlemen in camp and many ladies who will grace the affair by their presence, following the invitation, will add all the more to the pleasure and make for a better time for the guests within our county.

Official chaperones for the present are named as follows, others to be named later and for the September function:

Mrs. Laurent Dickson, Mrs. Fred Wright, Mrs. Marielouise Jaden, Mrs. W. S. Speer, Mrs. Albert S. McQueen, Mrs. Sara A. Power, Mrs. Kenneth W. Pepperdine, Mrs. (Dr.) A. P. Smith, Miss Mae H. Edwards, Mrs. C. McDonald, Mrs. (Dr.) Jas. A. Evans, Mrs. O. T. Harper, Mrs. Chas. G. Moreau.

The local Girl Scout troop, under leadership of Mrs. J. B. Goldman, presented a variety program at Central School Auditorium, Tuesday evening, July 25. Several members of the troop being out of town, Marchall Niel Jones, Miss Ruth Ward and several others contributed important numbers. The troop and troop committee are grateful to Mrs. Katherine Thomas, who coached the dancers, Mrs. James Sylvester and Mrs. Harper, and to the Municipal Band for their able assistance. Mrs. Thomas is particularly to be complimented for the excellent work done by the girls under her instruction, and the grace and charm of the dancing numbers.

The program, altered owing to the inability of Mrs. Foster, Mrs. Correia, Mrs. McLaughlin and Mr. Harper to be present, was as follows:

The troop committee and the parents of the Scouts are most grateful to Mrs. Goldman for the keen personal interest she shows in the troop, and for her unstinted work and devotion to their plans and activities. Leadership is an all important factor in scouting, and in Mrs. Goldman's interest the girls have much to gain.

Souvenir Owned by Coast Resident of Unusual Interest.

K. Harmon of Twentieth avenue, Gulfport, says the Daily Herald, owns among other interesting souvenirs, an admission ticket to the World's Columbian Exposition at Chicago, May 1 to October 30, 1893. This ticket which bears the signature of H. N. Higginbotham as president, was sent to Prof. Harmon as a gift by a friend to be used to attend the exposition, however, Prof. Harmon was unable to go to Chicago at that time. This preceded his residence on the Coast and was at the time he was teaching school in north Mississippi. Prof. Harmon showed to a Herald reporter a pass on the G. & S. I. railroad for 1905 signed by Thomas P. Hale, vice-president. He owns a personal letter from the late Captain J. T. Jones, builder and owner of the G. & S. I. He has an interesting souvenir of imperial Germany in the form of a 5000 mark note, now valueless, which was given to him by a German ship's officer in the Gulfport harbor several years ago.

Gasoline Reduction Announced by Standard For Friday, July 28.

Rev. A. J. Gmelch, pastor church of Our Lady of the Gulf, is happy to announce that a general chairlady has been selected for the annual church benefit festival, August 12-13, and quite a number of committees have been named, including chairmen and chairladies.

Mrs. Wm. A. Staehle of Bay St. Louis, well-known executive and worker, has been named chairlady and every committee member will cooperate with her. Committees are various and the work will be coordinated as thoroughly as possible in order to expedite work and help make the affair a greater success.

"From present indications and the manner in which the men and women of the parish have come forward and volunteered their services," said Father Gmelch to The Echo, "I am more than satisfied that the benefit is going to be fully up to the meaning and realization of all that the term implies. Our church is acutely in need of funds for the immediate future and at no time in history, we feel, will there be a more general and thorough response. This, to say the least is gratifying, and I wish to already this far in advance, express my sense of gratification and certainly my appreciation as well."

Meeting Next Tuesday, P. M.

There will be another meeting held at the rectory Tuesday evening immediately following the Novena devotions at the church and an invitation is extended to those who have not already affiliated themselves with the project.

It was the intention of the Press Committee to publish names of various committees, but since their appointments are to follow, it was deemed best to postpone such publication for the present. Members are asked.

MISS POWER ACCLAIMED WINNER OF BEAUTY SHOW WEDNESDAY EVENING

Event of Beauty and Personality Sponsored by Business Interest of Bay St. Louis and Waveland—Representative of L. A. de Montluzin Son Scores—Miss Mary di Benedetto Second Finals.

Considerable interest was manifested Wednesday evening on the occasion of the Beauty Contest, sponsored by business firms of the Bay-Waveland district, presented in full beauty and glory at Uncle Charlie's Nite Club, and witnessed by many who had assembled to pay tribute to their presence to their favorites and to also encourage the cause so worthy of admiration and support.

There were twenty-six young girls participating, representing Bay St. Louis and Waveland business firms. Here were gorgeously dressed young buds, their appearance enhanced by their rare beauty and dazzling personality and indeed with such array it would seem difficult to decided the winner.

However, the management, headed by J. H. Grainger and Nat J. Dreyfus, were equal to the task. Their ability and experience served them in good stead. They appointed a committee of three out-of-town residents, Mr. J. L. Hefley, civil engineer of Houston, Texas, Mr. R. F. Nichols, connected with the Hibernia Bank interests at New Orleans and Mr. W. H. Seiferth of Tulsa, Oklahoma, electrical engineer.

The selection was by elimination. Thirteen contestants appeared on the stage in two separate groups. Then six from each group was selected and the elimination narrowed down to Miss Effie Graham Power, representing L. A. de Montluzin Son, decided blonde, and Miss Mary di Benedetto, representing Joseph di Benedetto.

Miss Power Declared Winner.

Two out of three votes, Miss Power was decided the winner in the beauty contest and was presented with the silver loving cup. She is a resident of Bay St. Louis, a young lady of charm and sweet personality, and of the Harlow type. A graduate of St. Joseph's, she is now a student at St. Mary's of the Woods University, Indiana, and is well known in Chicago and particularly in St. Louis society. A native of Bay St. Louis, she has resided here all her life.

Miss Benedetto is of the opposite type. Brunette of the most attractive stamp and is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph di Benedetto also of Bay St. Louis.

The management announces that Miss Benedetto and Mrs. Pat Carter, representing the Gem Cafe, were made to Miss Power, this the judges' decision. Miss Power is eligible to the State Beauty Contest to be held at Biloxi soon, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, the winner of this contest will go to Atlantic City for "Miss America" contest.

The event was one of beauty and interest throughout and handled in efficient manner and it is hoped, Messrs. Grainger and Dreyfus said, to make it an annual affair.

A ball followed at Uncle Charlie's Nite Club lasting until the wee sma' hours and the affair terminated crowned with all the success possible to have been achieved. Mr. C. A. Breath and Messrs. Gainer and Dreyfus are to be complimented on their success.

EVERY ONE SHOULD HELP.

WHETHER our people realize it or not, the year 1933 is going down in American history as significant as any in the one hundred fifty-six which have passed in the experience of the nation.

The life of the American people will hereafter, be more closely regulated and supervised by the Federal Government than ever before, directly in opposition to the individualistic theories which have dictated governmental policies heretofore.

Not all of it is new, for, during the World War, the Wilson administration, exercising emergency powers, did, to a large degree, control and decide exactly what the industrial and economic machinery within the nation might or might not undertake to accomplish. When President Roosevelt placed an embargo on the export of gold he fell back on a piece of wartime legislation for the authority.

Far-reaching legislation was enacted by the recent Congress, looking towards the control and planning of American industrial, financial, and agricultural activities. These measures were adopted with tremendous popular support, largely because conditions had gotten so bad that they offered the only prospect of ending the unpleasant situation existing. These new powers are complete and general.

THE Industrial Recovery Act seeks to create jobs by reducing hours of labor, to improve living conditions and create purchasing power by raising wages, and to prevent waste and improper business methods by cooperation and regulation. The Agricultural Adjustment Act deliberately provides for limitation of production to accomplish an increased return for the farmers. A Federal coordinator of railroads will endeavor to rehabilitate our transportation system, new credit agencies of the central government provide loans for farmers and homeowners, another act places banks and security issues under government supervision, the Tennessee Valley development will put the nation in the power business, and so on.

These are tremendous changes to be accomplished. In the process mistakes are going to be made. It is certain, too, unfortunately, that there will be individual casualties, for it will take time and experience to coordinate the entire American economic empire. Every thoughtful citizen should seek to study and understand what is being attempted, in order that every man, woman and child can cooperate for the common welfare and happiness of us all. As a nation THE Echo is of the opinion, we have a tremendous task, in which we should all gladly help.

PASSING OF MRS. J. H. BOUSLOG.

DEATH, the inevitable, claimed its toll again Tuesday afternoon when Mrs. J. H. Bouslog, long-time resident of this city, passed away at the blessed age of 83 years.

Long and useful years had been spent. Death, in its peace and pomp of solemnity closed the Book and also in benediction, as a finale to a life that had been filled with the gold of human endeavor.

Mrs. Bouslog had lived a long life, according to the scriptural allotment and one of many distinguished accomplishments. She had seen the world, as we accept the term when one lived as she did. In younger life, from the time she was 18, she entered Vassar, when that institution was then only five years in existence. Her letters home to her mother were such that in later years they found permanent lodgment and were given the public in book form. Her connection with every constructive endeavor easily stamped her as one who was active and doing and her rare talent served to advantage. Results amply testify to the success that marked the paths she had chosen.

Tribute was paid this good woman while living. Her every deed had its compensating factor and her memory will long live after monuments of man will have decayed. By her deeds and achievements records will prove of longer duration.

THE GLARE OF FAME

HOW many ordinary folk yearn for the spotlight of publicity to throw its beams their way? They think it would be most excellent to be famous, to live in front of the reading public, and to be recognized everywhere.

Well, it might be fun, but these people will probably get a shock when they read what Mrs. Wiley Post, wife of the daring aviator now engaged in a round-the-world flight, says: "I wish we could live a quiet, uneventful home life back in Oklahoma City, or just any place where Wiley would be satisfied."

FAVORS SOUTHERN ROUTE

WHILE the Lindberghs are surveying the possibility of a northern air route to Europe via Iceland, Greenland and Labrador, Gen. Italo Balbo, head of the Italian squadron, which recently completed its epochal flight from Italy to the United States, expressed a belief that the southern route would be better.

The "southern route is safer" said Gen. Balbo, who doubted the practicability of the northern route because of the frequent fogs.

MISSISSIPPI STATE PRESS CONVENTION.

A HUNDRED or more representatives of the Mississippi press assembled at Biloxi last Friday and Saturday in annual convention and regardless of the fact that a number of newspapers over the State have gone out of business, consolidated, etc., this was considered a splendid attendance and a manifestation of interest both to the meeting and the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

So popular is this section with folks upstate it was at one time proposed that the Coast be the permanent place of annual convention. There was none 1932 because of the economic disturbance but it was easy this year when the committee in charge of the proposed convention announced the Gulf Coast as place of meeting.

The spirit of the newspaper editors and publishers as evidenced throughout the two-day session was optimistic—it always is. Smaller in number, the newspaper folk are still hopeful. They expressed their confidence in the immediate future and formally at the close of the banquet dedicated their every effort and support to President Roosevelt.

Biloxi's usual hospitality was not lacking and Mine Host Apperson of the Buena Vista devoted every moment to the welfare of his guests and the service rendered was well in keeping with the reputation of the hotel.

At Gulfport publishers were guests of the Port Commission, visiting the new pier warehouse where a complimentary luncheon was served, at which Mayor Milner was present, and later a trip to Ship Island on board one of the U. S. Coast Guard cutters proved a pleasing ending to a convention that was filled both with business and pleasure. Publishers returned home well impressed with their visit to the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

GOV. CONNER FAILS.

WITH flare of trumpets announcement was recently to the effect that Governor Conner was going to tour the State and give an account of his stewardship. He referred to his constituency as his stockholders and reiterated that he owed each one an accounting.

The Governor of sales tax reputation and who in turn has wiped away a million-dollar deficit from Mississippi, started out but it appears the tour, as started, or the report to his stockholders were neither a success or well received. The itinerary was abruptly broken and people of various sections of the State disappointed. It is indeed an honor to have the governor of a sovereign State to visit his people and it was expected at least the governor would not have disappointed his stockholders.

What happened to the Governor? What became of the report to stockholders? Or were the initial visits and addresses disappointments and proved a flop?

Possibly too many were asking about the calling of a special session of the Legislature in order our people might vote on repeal.

FASCIST RULES.

THE Secretary General of the Fascist Party in Rome has sent out certain guides to conduct for all Fascist officials to observe. Some of our own Mississippi and other officials might read them. The Echo quotes:

"First. Frequent neither by day nor by night the so-called de luxe resorts and de luxe theatres. "Second. Travel afoot as much as possible; otherwise use an automobile of the useful (as distinguished from the de luxe type); better yet, use a motorcycle.

"Third. At official ceremonies do not wear a silk hat and do wear the simple black shirt of the revolution.

"Fourth. Do not put on airs, in any wise, in habits or manner of living.

"Fifth. Keep rigorous office schedules and listen to the maximum number of persons with the greatest patience and humaneness.

"Sixth. Frequent populous districts and in these difficult times go, not only theoretically but physically, among the people."

The Echo does not necessarily subscribe to the color but it is a good idea in these troublous times to keep one's shirt on.

SELFISH INDUSTRY.

SOMETIMES, an industry can be too greedy and selfish. It can prevent help being given it.

New York City was about to spend some R. F. C. money on public works, which would have required a large amount of cement.

In an effort to give American workers preference, it was decided that foreign cement manufacturers would not be allowed to bid on the amount of cement needed.

Immediately after this decision, forty-odd American companies simultaneously jumped the price of their product forty cents a barrel, indicating without question that it was a concerted action.

In trying to be too greedy, the cement manufacturers have probably hurt themselves. The authorities are now planning to rescind their ban on foreign manufacturers, rather than see the public gouged by selfish industrialists.

UNADVERTISED HERO.

YOU can find almost anything in the daily news if you read everything.

A dispatch from Washington informs that Congresswoman Norton of New Jersey received a request from a war veteran to have his compensation stopped.

"Please stop my compensation," Peter Sherry, of Jersey City, wrote Mrs. Norton, "so as to aid our Government in its recovery program."

This is probably the first request of its kind and the Government should strike a new medal service and award it to this veteran for his "distinguished service in times of peace, over and beyond the call of selfishness."

MERELY THEORETICAL

By GEORGE E. SCHILLING.
(For The Sea Coast Echo)

TECHNOCRACY.

SIX or eight months ago America was startled by the proposal of a small group of men, giving themselves the odd name of Technocrats, to relieve all the economic misery of the United States, to apply everybody in the country with all of the necessities and most of the luxuries of life, and to require for the purpose a work day of only four hours, for four days in the week. The seeming miracle of abolishing poverty once and for all was to be accomplished by a system of controlling production in the interests of consumers, rather than in the supposed interest of business men. The proposals were presented in a manner well adapted to the mentality of a moving picture audience, so that they attracted a great deal of attention.

We all found out very soon that the fellow at the head of the new outfit was an engineer named Howard Scott, and that he had been working at Columbia University. We may stop to note that it was in Columbia that the President found several members of his alleged Brain Trust.

Probably nobody in recent American history has been called so many different kinds of a fool as Howard Scott. He seemed to ask for it. He claimed that a Russian Bolshevik was a hide-bound conservative compared to himself. He said that we should abolish what we call money and use some kind of power units instead. He said that the "price system" was going to everlasting smash in about eighteen months, and that he had the charts to prove it. Then, instead of putting his ideas into language that nobody could understand except college graduates, and not all of them, he advertised it like a new cigarette, in a way that would shock everybody. All the good, rich, prosperous people were either very much disgusted, or very much amused, or both at the same time, and they all jumped on him with both feet and stamped down hard. Scott knows the college words too, and uses them but he can use the other kind in a word to make folks pay attention.

The ideas were really not new. They had been studied and discussed in college classrooms and in textbooks for twelve to thirty years or more; but that was perfectly harmless because nobody ever paid any attention to a college professor's ideas anyhow. Now you take Henry Ford, on the other hand. There is a genius for you, who has proved it by making money. When he says that the thing to do is to buy a new automobile, that is good sound advice from a practical man, and we had better listen to him. Whoever heard of Thorstein Veblen, or Richard T. Ely, or how much money did they make?

Howard Scott was shut up fairly effectively and people began thinking about beer and banks instead. One lone man can't make a very successful fight against all the best people with the most money together. But the odd thing is that Scott did actually call the turn. The essential in President Roosevelt's "New Deal" is the essential in "Technocracy," an emphasis on consumption instead of on profits, with a start at cutting down hours of labor and increasing wages.

The new I. R. A. is a revolution. Scott said that it was coming in eighteen months from last November. Roosevelt says that it is coming within sixty days from the middle of this July. Now revolution does not mean gunpowder and dynamite and all that messy sort of thing at all. It means a big change, a change that is big enough to effect everybody very much. We do not want to shoot anybody at all. We do want some new clothes, tires for the car, a trip to the city, a chance to go to the show whenever we feel like it, and a few things like that. We shall not mind at all if we can get them by working only five or six hours a day, instead of eight to twelve. That in itself will be quite revolutionary for us. The other fellow can all go to the show too, and we hope they really enjoy it.

This I. R. A. is supposed to be in effect for two years only. A prediction is ventured right here. It will not expire in two years, nor in four, nor will it remain in its present shape. If we can make it work at all, and we pretty well have to, hours of labor will be shortened still more, and minimum wages raised. There is really no good reason why everybody should not have everything he can reasonably want, provided we have the sense to pass around the things we can produce. The technocratic paradise is a goal, the new deal is a start in that direction.

One of the oddest facts about this revolution is that fact that, in the first five months of his term, a president elected as a Democrat seems to have gone completely Technocrat.

MR. BOTICA' AND HIS DRUG STORE.

IN SPANISH a drug store is called a botica. San Antonio drug-gists in Mexican sections of the city use both the English and Mexican term to designate their place of business. Thus the sign on the store reads: Botica Drug Store. The meaning is the same. Mexican customers are attracted by the former, Americans by the latter.

Local druggists often have a laugh at the expense of traveling salesmen unaccustomed to Mexican customs. Many visitors innocently ask to speak with Mr. Botica, the proprietor.

WHEN FATHER WAS BOSS OF THE FAMILY.

LOOKING back memory lane: Amid the shadows of yesterday when friendship bracelets were the fad of the moment. Those smart electry 'Im the guy' buttons. Wish girls would wear those pretty, gaudy ribbons, and plait their down their back again. That was before bobbed hair craze. Father was boss of the family, and woman's place was in the home. Then. The Hesitation Waltz, popularized by the Castles, took the country by storm. Can't forget the catchy tune of "Cubino-la Glide," "Red Wing," that old time minstrel hit, "I'm going back to Baltimore." I could ramble on for hours like this when these atavistic spells come on. Just get me started some rainy afternoon.

SNOOPING IN DIRECTORY IS REVEALING.

SNOOPING through the entire telephone directory, we came across the following names listed: Hug, Egg, Blood, Get, See, Via, Ham, Hell, Gum, Fly, Christmas, Wine, Tarbuton, Fry, Heck, Vineyard, Livergood and many others to numerous to mention in this space.

ONE OUT OF EVERY TEN TIMES.

ATOP a large department store, looking down on Alamo Plaza is life-sized, animated electric sign depicting a typical scene from everyday life on ranches near San Antonio.

As the action starts, a steer dashes ahead of a cowboy mounted on a galloping pony. The cowboy's lariat swings in the air, as he closely pursues the fleeing steer. He finally throws his rope into space, and in true western fashion loops about the steer's horns. The steer is jerked to the ground, as the pony stomps to a sudden halt. When the realistic sign picture fades out, the steer is kicking, feet upward, on the ground. There is a brief, darkened interval, and the action is repeated. This display continues until a late hour.

Practical jokers have their fun at the expense of tourists, who slavishly watching the antics performed on the electric sign with enraptured interest. For the benefit of the onlooker they inform a confederate that every tenth time the cowboy's lariat misses its mark. And do they stand there and count. . . You'd be surprised.

HANGING TOO GOOD FOR WILD AUTO DRIVER.

AUTOMOBILE speeders are feeling the lash of police disapproval in this city. An alarming increase in serious traffic accidents has brought about this much needed action.

Willful and habitual violators of traffic laws, and common sense ethics in driving, should be forced by law to permanently surrender the privilege of driving an automobile upon public highways.

Local officers soon learn the identity of "wild and woolly" drivers. It is the duty of officers to bring the FOOL driver in ALIVE, before his stupid recklessness brings an innocent victim in Crippled or Dead.

STATE TEXAS WHITE HOUSE ANNEX.

TEXAS is galloping right smack in the heart of national affairs these days. John Nance Garner, of Uvalde, roped the vice-presidency of the United States. And now President Roosevelt's son, Elliot, recently separated from his first wife, ups and marries Miss Ruth Googins, of Fort Worth. Next thing you know Texas will be wanting Congress to establish a White House annex down in the middle of the Lone Star State.

WILEY POST has landed safely in New York. Broken a record. General Balbo and his brave aviators have departed for home after their epoch making flight from Rome to Chicago. The British flyer, Mollison and wife, are cruising higher over the Atlantic as this is written. Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh are scouting around the clouds in some part of the globe. The there's game James Mattern, roosting in a far corner of the earth, probably planning to continue his air excursion at some time in the near future.

WHAT THE PRESS SAYS.

MOVIE STARS' SALARIES.

(Yazoo City Herald)

FROM what appears to be a reliable source, we are informed that some rather drastic cuts have been made in the salaries of movie stars of late. In fact, some of them have had to take two or three cuts, even as you and me.

A table recently published shows the actual weekly salary figures for some of the Metro stars. Weekly, mind you, not monthly or yearly salaries. We quote a few:

Marion Davies and Marie Dressler have been cut from $6,000 a week to $3,900; Norma Shearer from $5,000 to $3,250; Joan Crawford from $3,000 to $1,950; John Barrymore, Lionel Barrymore and Wallace Beery from $2,500 to $1,625; Jackie Cooper, John Gilbert and Ramon Novarro from $2,000 to $1,300; Jean Harlow, Jimmy Durante, Buster Keaton, Robert Montgomery and Lewis Stone are slashed from $1,500 a week to only $975.

The above list includes only the headlines of one producing company, but it may be assumed that it fairly represents the salary range of other producers. It has been said that in their prime Gloria Swanson, Mary Pickford and several others received salaries much higher than the highest quoted in the foregoing, and at one time Tom Mix was reputed to be drawing $20,000 a week. But maybe that was only press agent talk.

Anyway, kind reader, when you see your favorite stars on the screen, remember that they may be doing their best to appear happy and gay, while in real life they are worrying along on salaries ranging from only $975 to $3,900 a week.

HAPPINESS.

(Greenwood Commonwealth)

AN American teacher, retiring after 40 years' service, delivers himself of this lofty philosophy: The way to complete happiness is self-consciousness and egotism.

"In doing this," he says "we are not able to acquire power, money or glory, but aim simply to help make other people happy."

It is good religion, good ethics, probably also a good practical rule of life for those who can commit themselves to it. Nearly all the great teachers of humanity agree about it. But the one thing that will puzzle an

This is a bad break for the husky college football players who keep in training via the ice delivery route during summer months. The fellows who write the risqué jokes about the ice man will have to sharpen their wits on radio crooners if the ice machines become popular. Local ice men claim this new fangled idea won't 'cut any ice' with them. Ice vending machines are in use on the west coast.

AVIATION has put on a great show of late. The applause and praise of the entire civilized world has been sincere and tumultuous.

Undoubtedly, these endurance flights are of vital importance in aviation's program of progress. The great masses must be educated to the fact that air travel is comparatively safe. Spectacular feats, seemingly, are important factors in the ultimate accomplishment of this end.

Personally, we wish these brave, adventuresome sky riders would put their round-the-globe planes in the garage for a while. We are getting all bewildered trying to keep track of their combined locations and they skim higher and you playing peek-a-boo with the stars and moon.

SPENDING ROAD MONEY.

(Jackson News)

THE Mississippi Highway Commission will make a careful study this week of the rule and regulations governing the expenditure of the State's quota of $6,798,175 for roadbuilding, in order to properly apply it to the state highway system.

The rules are clear and specific and cannot be changed to suit the desires of any section of the state seeking favoritism in the roadbuilding program.

Proper consideration will be given to secondary roads, but first and foremost the commission must apply the funds to completion of Federal aid trunk lines on which work has already been started.

Not more than 50 per cent of the funds appropriated will be applied to projects on the Federal-aid system outside of corporate limits. Not less than 25 per cent will be applied to extensions of the Federal-aid system into and through municipalities. Not more than 25 per cent will be available for secondary or feeder roads until provisions have been made for the satisfactory completion of at least 90 per cent of the initial limiting mileage of the Federal-aid system, which is 7 per cent of the State's certified rural road mileage.

This is the whole story. It cannot be changed, altered or modified in any way, regardless of how many petitions and memorials may be presented, without specific authority from the Federal government.

THE BREEDING PLACE.

THE following editorial with the above heading appeared recently in The Washington Herald, of which Eleanor Patterson is the editor and publisher. It was graphically illustrated by Enright, the cartoonist who depicted a mother vulture perched on the roof of a dilapidated public school building, beside a nest in which were three fledglings. The mother bird bore the names of the three young birds were respectively, "Crime," "Poverty" and "Ignorance."

"In 15 states of the Union public schools have been closed, with no other provision made to continue child education.

"In 40 states school terms have been abridged to save money, thus depriving thousands of children of their rightful educational opportunities.

"In 35 states the teaching staffs have been reduced to the point where classes are 'overloaded' and cannot be properly taught.

"In sum, the whole public school system of the nation faces an imminent breakdown, the disastrous social and moral effects of which will be felt for generations.

"No 'economy' is so false as the false economy that breeds ignorance, poverty and crime in this enlightened republic.

"America must save the schools to save herself.

"What is the Federal Government going to do about it?"

FALL GARDEN.

WITH favorable soil conditions for growing a garden as a result of the recent rainfall over the county, everyone who has a suitable plot of ground should plant a fall garden. A fall garden given proper attention will yield lots of vegetables for family use and materially reduce the grocery bill.

In preparing a garden plot, first see that it is properly ditched to produce a quick run-off of water in case of excessive rainfall. The ground should be thoroughly prepared 8 to 10 inches deep, and if well-rotted stable fertilizer is available, use a liberal coating when preparing the soil, care being taken to see that the manure is evenly and thinly distributed and well worked into the soil to avoid dry pockets in event of dry weather. In addition, an application of 5 to 10 pounds of a commercial fertilizer analyzing 4-8-4, should be applied to each 100 feet of row; rows 3 to 4 feet apart. This should be done several days in advance of planting the garden seed to allow for fermentation of the commercial fertilizer to set up and pass off, or roots of tender plants may be injured in coming in contact with the fertilizer too quick. Weather conditions somewhat determine time to wait before planting seed, but under average conditions, 8 to 10 days is sufficient.

The Irish potato is a good fall crop if one has the ground properly prepared. Quite frequently growers report bad luck in getting a good stand of potatoes from fall planting. The ground should be prepared three or four weeks in advance in order to have ample moisture. The seed potatoes should be sprouted by placing them in a cool place and kept damp (not wet) a week to ten days before planting date, which should be about August 21 to September 1st. Planting before this time, if a good stand is secured, usually results in a small spindling stalk which will not produce any potatoes, while on the other hand, if planting when the nights begin to get cool and this is the best time to get a good yield of potatoes. Snap beans should be planted in well prepared ground Sept. 1st to 5th, using five to seven seed per hill and hills 14 inch apart, and step on the seed after dropping to firm in the soil. Beans yield better when seed planted in hills; the plants supporting each other against wind and rain, and, too, cross pollinate for better quality and yield. The Burpee's Stringless, Giant Stringless and other green pod, also the wax variety are excellent for fall. Cabbage, tomato, turnip, beet, carrot, lettuce, onion and many other vegetables are suitable for fall. Spray formulae for controlling garden insects furnished upon application.

RKO-Radio have engaged Lillian Gish to appear in one of their productions this year, the second talking film she has ever made.

Rumor has it that William Powell will be Philo Vance again in Warner Brothers' production of S. S. Van Dine's "The Kennel Murder Case." Mary Aster is to have the leading feminine role.

Universal expects to put "The All-American Girl" into production immediately. The roster of players includes Lella Hyams, Robert Young, Andy Devine, John Mack Brown and Lucille Lund, winner of a screen beauty contest conducted by College Humor.

As soon as Diana Wynyard returns from London, work on "The Paradine Case" in which she and John Bond, Joan Marsh and Lillian Roth, and Lionel Barrymore will appear is scheduled to begin at the MGM studio.

Freston Foster and Claire Trevor, two comparative newcomers, are supplanting Spencer Tracy and Sally Eilers in "Women and the Law," a scheduled Fox production.

Universal is planning to bring back to the films the "monster" and has announced decision to produce "The Return of Frankenstein," with Boris Karloff and as many members of the original "Frankenstein" cast as possible.

Picture rights to Stephen Zweig's "Marie Antoinette," have been purchased by Metro-Goldwyn Mayer.

George Arliss' latest film, "Voltaire," has been completed and approved by preview committees. It will be released early in August by Warner Brothers.

Paramount's new schedule includes ten musical comedies. "Good Time Harry," with Charles Ruggles and Mary Boland, "Cloudy With Showers" and "Cruise to Nowhere," with the Bing-Crosby-Burns and Allen-Jack Oakie combination, "Duck Soup," with the Marx Brothers, "Three Cornered Moon," with Claudette Colbert, "Tillie and Gus," with W. C. Fields and Alison Skipworth, "Too Much Harmony," "We're Sitting Pretty," "Take a Chance," "Republicans and Sinners" and "Funny Page."

After a long period of inactivity United Artists have gone to work again. The productions scheduled include "The Bowery," "Nana" and Eddie Cantor's "Roman Scandals."

Jean Hersholt is the latest addition to the cast of MGM's "The Late Christopher Bean," in which Marie Dressler and Lionel Barrymore are appearing.

The cast of Universal's screen version of the musical comedy, "Take a Chance," include June Knight, Lillian Bond, Joan Marsh and Lillian Roth. Alice Brady, Maureen O'Sullivan and Granchot Tene will appear in MGM's picturization of Bradford Ropes' novel, "Stage Mother."

Otto Kruger will be Barbara Stanwyck's leading man in "Ever in My Heart."

After many years of use we would not exchange Black-Draught for any medicine."

WAVELAND NEWS-NOTES

V. E. WEBER BOX 134
Waveland, Miss.

WHILE Coleman Avenue, written in these columns last week, is a residential avenue as well as the main commercial thoroughfare in Waveland, there are many homes and indeed more places of business than were enumerated last week.

For instance, John Morrere's Mercantile Store is housed in a substantially-looking and attractive two-story building, occupying one of the prominent and more centrally located corners. Morrere's Store is noted for the variety of its goods. Dry goods, household furnishings, hardware, novelties and many things too numerous to mention. A lady was recently visiting at Bay St. Louis and turning her glance into the kitchen remarked, "What a beautiful and attractive looking linoleum art square. Where did you get so unusual pattern and good looking square. The prompt reply was, "At Morrere's in Waveland, and the price was remarkably reasonable."

Zimmerman's Pan-Am Service Station is located adjoining Morrere's. Mr. Zimmerman is the pioneer gas and service man of Waveland and commands a splendid trade both from Waveland and surrounding territory. And nearby is Bourgeois' well-known hot-dog and soft drink place, a popular rendezvous with the thirsty and hungry.

Moran's Shell Service Station is a new building, modern and a credit to the community. Here the famous Shell products are sold to many locally and from a wide area of trade. Then the new $12,000 school building and City Hall as well are located on Coleman Avenue. In no distant day the avenue will be built up from one end to the other.

Mr. Durre of New Orleans is building a neat cottage in Waveland Park. Mr. Tricon and Mr. Stulare building two new cottages on the beach. Mr. Sid Carrio contractor, Mrs. Bectuci of New Orleans who recently purchased a home from Boy Bourgeois, Sears Avenue and Roberts street is having the house entirely renovated. Mr. A. Johnson, contractor.

We are reliably informed that several more homes will be built in the near future.

The Waveland P. T. A. will give a benefit card party on August 3rd, pay the principal thereof as the same mature and become due.

SECTION 3. BE IT FURTHER ORDAINED, that if, for any reason, the refunding bonds, or any of them, should at any time be declared by any court of competent jurisdiction to be void, the holder thereof, or each of them shall be subrogated to all the rights, privileges and remedies, now or heretofore possessed by the holders of the bonds which are to be refunded hereby.

SECTION 4. BE IT FURTHER ORDAINED, that the proceeds of said bonds shall be used for no other purpose than the purpose in this ordinance and the said original resolution of the Mayor and Board of Commissioners of said City entered thereon.

SECTION 5. BE IT FURTHER ORDAINED, that the City of Bay Saint Louis in lieu of selling of the bonds authorized by this ordinance, may, with the consent of the holder or holders of the bonds to be refunded, exchange such refunding bonds upon the giving of ten days notice of such sale published in a newspaper published in said municipality.

SECTION 6. BE IT FURTHER ORDAINED, that the City Clerk is hereby directed to forward a complete transcript, duly certified, of all the proceeds in this matter of the issuance of said bonds, to G. Garland Lyell, State Bond Attorney, for validation of said bond issue in the Chancery Court.

SECTION 7. BE IT FURTHER ORDAINED, that all ordinances and resolutions insofar as the same are inconsistent herewith shall be and are hereby repealed.

SECTION 8. BE IT FURTHER ORDAINED, that for good cause shown to the Board, therefore, that this ordinance take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

The foregoing ordinance having been reduced to writing and upon motion of H. Grady Perkins, Commissioner, duly seconded, was read and considered by sections and upon motion duly seconded each of said sections were approved and adopted. Thereupon the question of whether the said ordinance as a whole shall be finally passed and adopted and roll being called, said ordinance was adopted and adopted, the vote on the final passage being as follows:

HANCOCK COUNTY RED CROSS ACTIVE FACTOR IN LIFE OF COMMUNITY

Criticisms by Thoughtless and Unknowing Individuals—Constructive Thought and Co-operation Would be of Vast Assistance in Great Work of Mercy And Clothing the Needy.

We have been wondering just how many people really understand the work that is being done by the local Red Cross chapter in the distribution of cloth, food and ready made garments.

From time to time criticisms have reached us (which of course are permissible and to be expected) and we wonder just how thoroughly the work is understood.

There are so many angles to be straightened and so many channels thru which to work that the person or persons doing the distributing is caught in a web from which it is sometimes almost impossible to be extricated.

The government has been most generous in their apportionment of flour, cloth and ready made garments for Hancock County, but on the other hand they recognize the need of 10 per cent of the population and more than 50 per cent are on the "Requests" list.

Who is to decide who is to be taken care of?

Is it better to take care of one family in full and disregard others or give a small portion to many families?

Is it better to clothe the school children in order that their pride may be preserved and let the older people who can understand do without?

These are the questions to be finally decided by the distributor. Then again requests are filed on information obtained from the "requestor" and upon personal investigation it is found that the family does not come under the head of destitute but the worker who has turned in the name does not always know this and cannot always see why this particular case is marked closed.

For an example a request comes based upon the fact that school will open on a certain date and that unless clothing is provided the children cannot enter school and some one is pressed into service to give their time to get these clothes made only to learn that school opens a month later.

A request comes for new garments to make a certain trip and someone offers their services to get these things ready for a certain time and they are never called for.

These are a few of the many case problems confronting the office daily and the public see only one side.

At all times suggestions have been asked for and invited and the hope is expressed that a more thorough study of the office end of it be made.

The Red Cross officials are servants of the public and are laboring to do the most good to the greatest number and deeply appreciate the county-wide co-operation and loyalty of a great number who have so unselfishly helped in this work.

It is not easy to meet all the different phases of the work but they are giving careful study and full time and hope the public will realize these conditions.

Mrs. Ella H. Bouslog Outstanding Resident Called Away by Death

Lathrop, head of the Childrens Bureau in Washington. A copy was mailed to every federated club in the United States.

After a memorable visit to Chicago World's Fair, Mr. Bouslog had a long illness—the aftermath of typhoid, and at the same time the panic of 1893 wiped out the family fortune. Mrs. Bouslog was left with a sick husband and three small daughters. She opened a school in her home, which she ran for seven years with as many as sixty pupils. Her school was lovingly known as the Bouslog Academy and the neighboring colleges accepted all credits from it. At the same time she was not too busy to sew for her girls, to bake 24 loaves of bread a day for a whole summer to assist her church and even took up china painting. Many pieces, which her family prize, attest to her talent.

In 1898 Mr. Bouslog went into Arkansas and spent months going overland with surveyors preparatory to the laying out of a railroad. He persuaded the legislature to grant a right of way with many acres to the mile of road for the proposed syndicate. The people of Little Rock were so grateful that they offered Mrs. Bouslog any house that was for sale, for her home. But, the Spanish American War broke out and the syndicate melted away in the accompanying panic and the time limit on grant ran out. The Bouslogs moved to Bay St. Louis, buying the old Cow and place. Mr. Bouslog commuted to Gulfport, where he was Immigration Agent for the G. & S. I. Railroad. Elba and Faith were both married in the lovely antebellum home which is now owned by Mr. E. V. Richards. Mr. Bouslog died in 1912. Shortly after Helen was married and Mrs. Bouslog made her home with her youngest daughter, selling "Elmwood."

When Vassar celebrated its founding in 1923, Mrs. Bouslog sent two descriptive letters to the president as a reminder of the old days. He and Mrs. Burgess Johnson urged her to send the remainder of the old letters written by her to her mother, while she was in Vassar. The letters were published in book form and later reviewed by Mr. Chas. Seldon in the Ladies' Home Journal, May 1925. Mrs. Bouslog's picture as the "Vassar Girl Who Was and Still Is" appeared in the October number. Mrs. Bouslog has lived quietly with her daughter, Mrs. Donald Marshall, during her last years, helping to rear her grandchildren, Mary Elba and Charles.

Funeral service was held at the Marshall home at 3 P. M. Wednesday, conducted by Rev. J. E. Gray, assisted by Rev. C. C. Clark.

Music was furnished by the Methodist choir and those serving as pallbearers were, Carl Marshall, Dr. J. A. Evans, E. S. Drake, Dr. C. M. Shipp, C. C. McDonald and Leo W. Seal. A number of friends accompanied the family to Gulfport from which place Mrs. Marshall left at 6 o'clock with the remains for Springfield, Mo. The burial will take place there, Friday morning from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Denton. Mr. Bouslog is also buried in Springfield. Surviving are her daughters, Mrs. Harry P. Upham, of Panama City, Florida; Mrs. C. E. Denton and her five children and one grandchild of Springfield, Mo.; and Mrs. Donald Marshall and her children, Mary Elba and Charles D. of Bay St. Louis.

The entire family has the sympathy of a host of friends.

Friends of Miss Mary Perkins will learn with interest of her continuing convalescence from her recent critical illness and that she is now on the high road to recovery to the extent that she has left the hospital and is at the home of her brother, Mr. Terrel H. Perkins. Miss Perkins' condition at one time was such as to dispair of her recovery.

Capt. G. J. Rousseau, of Fort Rancocas, Fla., spent a few days visiting Hancock county Civilians' Conservation Camp and spent part of Monday in the city on business connected with his visit. Capt. Rousseau is a veteran of the army and while not an old man by no means has seen long and active service, from Africa, around the globe and back home again. He is traveled and well versed and a most engaging gentleman. His return will be looked forward to.

City Commissioner H. Grady Perkins, whose recent visit to Chicago was principally to represent the city of Bay St. Louis (at his own expense) at the annual convention of National Waterworks Superintendents, since Mr. Perkins is the Public Utilities commissioner. He reports the convention was not only largely attended but proved one of unusual benefit since so many subjects of direct interest affecting municipalities in this time of economic stress were discussed.

ANNUAL CONVENTION MISS. STATE PRESS ASS'N ON MISSISSIPPI COAST

Pascagoula Publisher and Former Representative to Head Association For New Year—Recovery Act Is Subject Main Discussion—Banquet and Ball.

Arthur V. Smith, former representative, Jackson county, and publisher of the Pascagoula Democrat-Star, was elected president of the Mississippi State Press Association at the annual convention held at Biloxi on Friday and Saturday of last week at the Buena Vista, succeeding H. G. Sanders of Aberdeen, of the Examiner.

Other officers are: R. Weaver, Philadelphia, vice president; Lester Williams, Tylertown, vice president, and R. L. Brown, Jackson, secretary-treasurer, Norman Mott, Yazoo City and B. Cook, Pontotoc, were added to the directorate. Chas. G. Moreau, publisher of the Sea Coast Echo at Bay St. Louis, was elected State committeeman and delegate to the National Editorial Association to be held in the Middle West early next summer.

The secretary-treasurer's election followed much argument when the opinion was advanced by several that Mr. Brown's political activities might cast suspicion on the association and plunge it into politics. Mr. Brown's connection with past political campaigns was mentioned.

There was a discussion of the code of fair competition and a report made by C. O. Emmerick, chairman of a special committee, which made recommendations in reference to the code as to be presented by the N. E. A.

Following the morning session the members went to Gulfport for lunch and to board the Coast Guard patrol boat, Legare, in charge of Boatwain R. S. Miller for a cruise of the Gulf waters. The members were guests of the Gulfport Commission at lunch served at the new warehouse.

RECOVERY ACT DISCUSSED. The members Friday afternoon discussed the code of fair competition as it referred to the printing industry having previously passed a resolution in which the association stated its belief that newspapers do not come under the scope of National Recovery Act. It was felt that under such act the freedom of the press as set forth in the Constitution of the United States might be infringed.

Action taken in regard to the code will not bind the publishers as related to newspapers, but only in reference to the printing press; but as the majority of members are from small weeklies of the State, which only has about 16 dailies, the discussion of the printing code was considered a most important problem before the association.

The association decided to affiliate with the National Editorial Association in its efforts to have a suitable code adopted. Sentiment was in favor of writing a code of prices into the act, rather than basing prices on costs.

President H. B. Sanders of Aberdeen presided, and the discussion was led by Secretary Brown. There was no set program and the opening session was given over to an informal discussion of the code.

BANQUET FRIDAY NIGHT About 100 attended the banquet Friday night of the Mississippi Press Association at the Buena Vista hotel, Biloxi, an outstanding social event of the annual convention. Chas. G. Moreau, Bay St. Louis, president of the Coast Press Association, presided at the banquet as toastmaster. The principal speakers for the evening were nine past presidents of the state association, namely: Joseph Norwood, Magnolia; James H. Skewes, Meridian; Edgar G. Harris, West Point; C. N. Harrison, Canton; Will Hight, Louisville; J. O. Emmerick, McComb; H. H. Crisler, Sr., Port Gibson; Walker Wood, Winona and Clayton Rand, Gulfport, the latter 17th district Rotary president and a director of the National Editorial Association. In addition several other guests were introduced and spoke briefly.

Following this outstanding banquet, said to be one of the finest in the long history of the Press Association, a ball at the Buena Vista concluded the evening's program.

Arthur V. Smith, former first vice president, was elected over his request to consider someone else as he had withdrawn from the line of succession. This wish was totally disregarded and he was elected overwhelmingly, a compliment and credit to the press well worthy. He is a brother of Mrs. H. U. Canty, former resident, Bay St. Louis.

Mrs. Charles Hillen was a recent visitor to Bay St. Louis, motoring over from New Orleans, accompanied by relatives. Mrs. Hillen plans to thoroughly renovate and remodel her former place of residence in State street to such an extent that it will in a sense be a new and different looking place and will be offered for rent.

Mr. Jacob Schaff, younger brother of Mr. Joseph R. Schaff, well known resident of Memphis, Tenn., is spending a while in Bay St. Louis and seemingly enjoying every moment of his vacation. He is a golf devotee and lover of the open and in addition to much social entertaining, he is enjoying the Coast and its many advantages.

BELL CO. ANSWERS INQUIRY

From Chamber of Commerce
Tells Why Central Cannot Give Location of Fires

On occasion of fire breaking out in this city whenever alarm is sounded failure of the local telephone exchange to disclose the location of the fire, causes no end of disappointment and general complaint. And more so because at one time such information was given by operators at telephone central.

This practice of giving information has been discontinued by the Bell Company for quite a while but nevertheless such service is missed and the question arises so frequently why it was discontinued and why should it not be reinstated, that recently the local Chamber of Commerce took the matter up with the Southern Bell Company. Accordingly, a reply was received in due time and its contents so well covers the ground, and so consistent are the reasons for discontinuing a former service, that The Echo herewith reproduces the letter in full. The public, for the first time, will learn, in writing of the objections to giving the information sought and we feel as well as they will, that the Bell Company's position is well a tenable one and we must not only agree but abide by the wise position.

Atlanta, Ga., July 20, 1933. Mr. Chas. G. Moreau, President, Chamber of Commerce, Bay St. Louis, Miss.

Dear Mr. Moreau:—I have your letter of July 14th and appreciate the spirit in which it is written.

This company is always anxious to render the sort of service desired by each community when it is in any way possible to do so. For a number of years we endeavored to give out information as to the location of fires but on account of the difficulties caused by this practice, we were forced to discontinue it.

We found that every time an alarm was given, practically everyone in town rushed to the telephone to ask where the fire was located. This sudden and abnormal number of calls completely overran the operating force with the result that nearly all calls were seriously delayed in handling. Some of these delayed calls were of a real emergency nature and serious harm was done by this delay.

It is also true that our operators could not always accurately know the location of fires, as they were forced to depend entirely on information given them by people who were hurried or excited. This inaccuracy of result resulted in a great deal of unnecessary anxiety and sometimes real damage on account of haste to reach the site of a fire which did not exist.

Since it became evident that the attempt to give out this information demoralized our service at a time when it was most needed by the community and that the information itself was often inaccurate and worse than worthless, it was decided that it was in the interest of everyone that the practice be abandoned. I think you will agree that so progressive a community as Bay St. Louis could not sponsor a return to a method which has proven dangerous and useless, and resulted in a serious service impairment.

Yours very truly,
W. E. BARE,
General Commercial Manager.

OF SOCIAL INTEREST (By Our Society Editor)

MRS. EDMUND F. FAHEY'S BEAUTIFUL NOON PARTY.

Mrs. Edmund F. Fahey was hostess Thursday noon and afternoon to a luncheon and bridge at "The Answer" to which seven tables of guests enjoyed the fascination of bridge until 4:30 o'clock.

Luncheon was served in the main dining room, the table decorated with rare and beautiful flowers from the florist, in colors of tan and blue blending harmoniously.

At each plate as individual favor was an incense burner container, of different designs and color. Some represented quaint cottage, castles and other designs. The place cards were unusually attractive and served for tally cards as well.

A special menu completed every arrangement and detail of the luncheon unto the most minute detail.

Mrs. Fahey's awards were well worthy of striving for. Fortunately to secure these were Mrs. E. J. Arceneaux as high scorer, Mrs. Leo Ellisworth Kenney, second; Mrs. Frances J. Bopp, third. Miss Vickie Gex won the low score and Mrs. Sidney W. Prague the "cut" prizes. Mrs. C. G. Moreau was awarded the "hundred aces" prize.

Mrs. Fahey's delightful afternoon party which gave so much pleasure to her charming guests that afternoon is one of a series of parties planned for the summer.

ANNOUNCING MARRIAGE.

Mr. and Mrs. Raphael R. Ross, of Henderson, Point, announce the marriage of their daughter, Celestine Marie to James Dudley Atkinson, Junior, which took place Sunday, July 23, 1933, at Our Lady of the Gulf church, Rev. Father A. J. Gmelch, officiating.

POPULAR VISITOR.

Mrs. W. J. Curry, of New Orleans, who summers at Waveland visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Briede, and spends much of her time with Bay St. Louis friends, is one of the popular members of the summer colony in Bay-Waveland, entertained frequently and is always a guest at the Saturday night club affairs.

PRICES WILL BOOM.

(Mississippi Sun.)

THERE is going to be a major construction revival. And that, in turn, means that prices will boom. It's very possible that a home that would cost ten thousand dollars a year or two from now, can be built for 60 per cent of that sum today. And that goes for repairs, alterations and improvements.

If we build and repair now, we are making our dollars do double service. They buy us something we need at a rock bottom price, and they help provide employment. They go into the fight to restore purchasing power. They become productive dollars, as distinct from non-productive dollars which lie in the bank.

The economists are forecasting that the building revival will occur in the near future. Do yours now before the rush comes. And while it's being done, it will be pleasant to think that employment and investment are cheaper than charity.

—Uncle Charlie's Nite Club will present a floor show of unusual talent Saturday night of this week—an out-of-town trio of young artists.

—Miss Doris Whitfield has returned from a stay in New Orleans to where she accompanied her mother and remained with her at a hospital. Mrs. Whitfield, we are glad to say, is vastly improved and convalescing.

WINDJAMMER YACHT CLUB STAGES SUCCESSFUL RACE LAST SUNDAY

Local Rival Boast Tie in Score—To Race This Sunday—
Biggest of All Regattas Set For Sunday Before
Labor Day, September 3.

The Windjammer Yacht Club staged another successful race Sunday afternoon, weather conditions being ideal for sailing. Sunday's race finished the first series, in all classes with the exception of the larger machine, sloops, "Interruption" and "Interference."

These two boats, have hit their old stride again in rivalry, each boat having won one race, making a tie in the score, which will be decided this Sunday afternoon, weather permitting. Both crews, and skippers of these two fast boats are confident that their boat will cross the line first in the next race.

The winners in the other classes are, Com. John McDonald's "Princess" in the larger cat boat class, Billy Bourgeois's "Hindu" in the smaller class, and Hoke Ogden's "Swan" in the smaller sloop class. In the Star boat class L. Schadow-sky's "Jo Jean" won over the "Mille Tonnerre." The winning skippers are to be presented with cups, to be given out at Uncle Charlie's Nite Club, one Saturday night in the near future.

It is the plan of the Windjammer Club to put on another series of races soon, and to hold one big race here on the Sunday before Labor Day. On Labor Day the local fleet will go to Gulfport to a regatta held by the Gulfport Yacht Club. It is expected that some boats from Biloxi and most all of Gulfport's fleet will race here Sunday before Labor Day, September 3rd.

THE BIRDS
I would I were as birds as free,
To wander in the air;
All nature's loveliness to see,
Without a thought of care.
I would my Creator praise,
Throughout the day;
I would spread joy upon my ways,
With feet above the clay.
I would I could soar quite as high,
As birds within the blue;
Perhaps I'd find Heaven more near,
In dewy fields of rue.

BUFFETS SAY "HAPPY DAYS!"

WHEN THE STEIN'S ON THE TABLE—
The proper cheese is bound to be there with it!
For beer and cheese—the buffet supper in all its glory—are classic and inseparable food combinations.

The very thought of the smooth and amber-flowing liquid conjures up in the masculine breast thoughts of generous slices of nut-sweet Swiss cheese, scoopful of pungent Old English, wedges of ruddy American. From free lunch to political caucus, the joys of the foaming stein and the buffet supper are endeared to memory the world round.

Americans will have to learn the joys of the proper thirst-inducing, appetite-satisfying cheeses which properly belong with the foaming beverage, according to the educational department of the Kraft-Phenix Cheese Corporation. There are more than 400 different varieties of cheese—and all of them will enjoy renewed popularity now that buffet suppers are the thing, according to the cheese company.

Swiss, full-flavored American, Limburger, sharp and ruddy Old English—these are some of the cheeses which are expected to enjoy unparalleled popularity on the buffet tables of the nation now that beer is back.
